

Holy Aloysius,
patron saint of youth
and of our university:

Pray with and for us,
your fellow students in the Church, learning under the direction of St. Ignatius.

Make us to be, like you, intense in prayer,
strong in chastity,
indifferent to honor and position, but zealous in the love of wisdom.

Enable us to practice charity toward our parents and siblings, toward our teachers and fellow students, toward those who are sick or in distress.

And if we are young,
may we cling to the ancient apostolic faith.

If we are impatient, may we rush to embrace the suffering of Christ.

If we are bold, may we be humble in devotion to the Mother of God, the patroness of those who contemplate all things in their hearts.
